Mrs Annie Grimm, whose picture appears below, lives at the East 415 at. A reporter had the sollowing interries with her.

"Almost as leting as I can ressentier, when I was still at a clook, the actoriars would remark that my breath smelled had. As I grew older," she continued. I do not have so much about it, as my companions were older and had more regard for my leelings; but the trouble was still starts.

MRS. ANNIE GRIMM, 215 EAST 4TH ST. 'I always suffered from colds. I seemed to have e all tire time. My ness would stop up, first on e side, time on the other, and I would blue out-ye lumps of chases like record of a dirty reliew lor. At night, when I would lie down, this acres would drop back the my throat and almost within.

Securely imbedded in the cases are thirty-six choice gems, comprising twelve fine diamonds, twelve handsome saphires and twelve beautiful rubles, all so arranged as to produce a particularly brilliant effect.

The mention of the fact that Edwin A. Thrall, of 3 Maiden tlane, is the dealer from whom it was purchased, and that the price paid was $400, is sufficient guarantee that the timepiece is first class in every particular. Thousands of interested people inspected the watch at Brentano's and in Brooklyn, and the ladies especially are unantimous in the opinion that "it is a beauty."
